

Technical Trainer EMEA

Department: Product Marketing

Location: Germany (preferably)

Job Summary:

The Technical Trainer EMEA is responsible for the training of our customers and internal staff on our products across our entire product portfolio.

Essential Functions / Major Responsibilities:

- Provide product training to customers and internal staff
- Field installations to support the technical team and learn from the field
- Ability to learn the functionality of our products
- Training documentation
- Manage training materials
- Cooperation between US and EU Training Departments
- Create product manuals in collaboration with the US team
- Continuously update the training product catalog

Requirements:

- Electrical, technical, or other related background
- Career changers with electronics skills welcome
- Ability to travel within Europe to deliver training
- Good personal communication skills required to deal effectively with customers and act as a trainer
- Working knowledge of standard software and tools
- Ability to maintain acceptable standards of office behaviour
- Class B driving license
- Language Skills: German as local language and English

If you are interested in applying for this position, please send your CV and cover letter to hremea@leyardgroup.com.